

N H M R C

BUILDING
A HEALTHY
AUSTRALIA

National Health and Medical Research Council

Aims to raise the standard of individual and public health outcomes.

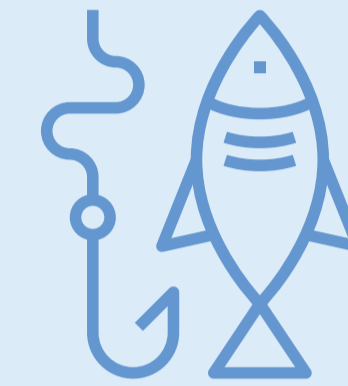

Nation's leading expert body in health and medical research.

Guidelines for managing risks in recreational water

Provide guidance on how to plan for and manage health risks from water bodies.

Provide guidance to site managers, local councils and regulators who manage water sites.

NHMRC invites
Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples to provide input into the updated guidelines.

How to get involved.

Complete our online survey

www.surveymonkey.com/r/NNN2XKR

Visit our website

www.nhmrc.gov.au/wateruse

Email us to arrange a video conference or phone call at water@nhmrc.gov.au

Sharing your feedback will help us:

- develop useful and easy to understand advice for local communities
- make decisions that take community values and preferences into account
- learn about traditional approaches to managing water quality that can improve our national guidelines.

Targeted consultation

We want to ensure that Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples' voices are heard during guideline development.

We'd like to learn about:

- community values, preferences and priorities about local water use
- community impacts of draft guidelines
- risk management and communication
- stories to share in our national guidelines.

We look forward to hearing from you.

Australian Government

National Health and Medical Research Council